ABOUT THE BOOK

A Pope Francis Lexicon is a collection of over fifty essays by an impressive set of contributors from around the globe, each writing on a specific word that has become important in the ministry of Pope Francis. An A-list of insightful voices from the Catholic world (and some important ones from outside it) explore the Pope's use of words like clericalism, family, joy, money, and sourpuss. Together, they reveal what Francis's use of these words says about him, his ministry and priorities, and their significance to the church, the world, and the lives of individual Christians. The entire collection is introduced by a foreword by Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, the spiritual leader of Orthodox Christians worldwide, and a preface by one of Francis's closest advisors, Cardinal Seán O'Malley. It is edited by two of the most highly regarded Vatican affairs journalists in the world today, Cindy Wooden, who is chief of the Rome bureau of Catholic News Service, and Joshua J. McElwee, Vatican correspondent for the National Catholic Reporter.
